ILLINOIS HOUSE VOTES PROBE OF STATE EXPENSES

Republicans Win Fight by Narrow Margin of Single Vote

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 14.—(AP)—The Republican majority in the Illinois house today passed the Branson resolution for a legislative investigation of Democratic state payrolls and expenditures by the margin of a single vote in a dramatic roll call.

The tally was announced as 73 to 72 in favor of creating a seven-member house committee with broad authority to inquire into Horner administration finances during the last four years.

Rep. Leroy M. Green of Rockford, Republican minority leader, cast the deciding vote after an extended roll call during which the probe was defended on economy grounds by Republicans and assailed by Democrats as an unwarranted attack on Governor Horner's administration while the Democratic executive lies ill in Florida.

Galleries Packed

Packed galleries heard the voting and oratory lasting more than an hour. F. Lynden Smith, director of public works, and Finance Director S. L. Nudelman were among Democratic officials who followed the roll call closely.

As the resolution hovered near defeat with the count standing 72 to 71 to table it, a Democrat, Rep. C. D. Franz, of Freeport, cast his vote for the investigation, creating the tie which Green then broke.

Franz was the lone Democrat voting for the resolution. Otherwise the vote followed party lines, with seven GOP members listed as absent or not voting. It was the first major victory for the Republicans in the six weeks old legislative session.

Cheering for the Democratic speeches brought the charges from Majority Leader R. J. Branson, the resolution's sponsor, that the "galleries are packed with payrollers who ought to be at work."

Rep. Clinton Searle (R-Rock Island) objected at one point to Director Smith "talking to the Democratic members" and called for enforcement of the house rule barring privileges of the floor to non-members.

Dems Won First Vote

On the preliminary motion the Democrats won 73 to 70 and it had appeared they might succeed in defeating the inquiry.

By a vote of 73 to 70, the Democrats earlier overrode a ruling of Temporary Speaker Frederick W. Renick (R-Buda) which would have delayed decisive action on the probe sought by Robert J. Branson, Centralia, the Republican majority leader.

Democrats forced the test abruptly while Speaker Hugh W. Cross and several other GOP legislators were absent due to illness. Four Chicago Republicans, Reps. Broche, Ruddy, Petrone and Warfield, were recorded as present but not voting. The roll call was on strict party lines.

"If you kill this resolution here today, I'll introduce another one tomorrow," Branson told the Democratic bloc.

Neel Faces Extradition For Theft of Auto

Richard Neel, former Illinois Central brakeman, and who is held in the county jail on a charge of confidence game in connection with his alleged solicitation of funds for advertising in a railroad time book, may be extradited and taken to Booneville, Cooper county, Mo., on a more serious charge. Sheriff Gilbert Finch stated today that in a long distance telephone conversation with Sheriff Clay Groom of Booneville, Mo., he had been advised that extradition proceedings would be instituted there today to secure the return of Neel to that city on a charge of automobile theft.

A warrant charging Neel with the theft of a Chevrolet sedan from Booneville, Mo., on July 19 of last year was received by Sheriff Finch this morning, with a request that the prisoner be retained here until the Missouri officials secure the necessary extradition paper for his return to that state. Neel is alleged to have taken the automobile in Booneville, Mo., last summer and after making an extended trip to the west coast, to have abandoned the stolen machine at Booneville, Ark.

Valentines

Washington, Feb. 14.—(AP)—The American valentine finally has rated a display case in the Smithsonian Institution.

"This is a fine sample of valentines without words," said R. P. Tolman, curator of graphic arts, as he put an old one on display today.

Known to be more than 83 years old it doesn't use a single sugary phrase—not even the word love. It features a blind cupid and a brace of loving doves.

Words, the histories say, got on valentines when postage became cheap in the United States, and every love-smitten male who had a couple of pennies began flooding the country with them.

Evanston, Ill., Feb. 14.—(AP)—Every one at the Evanston police department got a valentine from an unidentified person (a woman suspected) who signed "Sunshine."

The valentine: "I would like to be a lifer in your jail."

WESTERNER FOR SUPREME COURT WILL BE URGED

To Succeed Justice L. D. Brandeis Who Resigned Yesterday

Washington, Feb. 14.—(AP)—The retirement of Justice Louis D. Brandeis from the Supreme Court brought a chorus of senatorial demands today that a westerner be appointed to the seat he held for nearly 23 years.

Only one member of the court, western legislators pointed out, comes from beyond the Mississippi river. He is Justice Pierce Butler of Minnesota.

The 82-year-old Brandeis, whose shock of unruly iron-gray hair made him a picturesque figure on the bench, made known his decision to retire in a one-sentence note to President Roosevelt late yesterday.

An hour before, the venerable jurist had stepped down from his high-backed chair in a crowded courtroom for the last time. As he disappeared with his colleagues behind the heavy draperies, he gave no public indication that he never would return to his place at the left of Chief Justice Hughes.

Roosevelt Accepts

The President, recuperating at the White House from the gripe, promptly penned a letter of regret, in which he said:

"The country has needed you through all these years, and I hope you will realize, as your old friends do, how unanimous the nation has been in its gratitude to you."

Congressional tributes to Brandeis were general, in contrast to the furor aroused over his appointment by President Wilson in 1916. He was the first Jew to sit on the court, and his critics had pictured him as a radical and a violent partisan. It was more than four months before the Senate confirmed his nomination, 47 to 22.

In his long service, Brandeis constantly enunciated the rights of the common man and vigorously defended the rights of minorities.

The final ballots will go into the mails tomorrow and must be voted and returned before 5 p. m. Saturday. Slothower, L. G. Cannon and Harold Coss.

Many Similar Names Recorded on Congress' First Monthly Pay Roll

Washington, Feb. 14.—(AP)—The first pay roll of the new Congress showed today that one out of every 14 House members has a relative or a person with the same name as his—drawing a congressional salary.

Ten Republicans and 21 Democrats had clerks in their offices with surnames identical with their own.

They do not include those members who have relatives with different names on the House pay roll or who may place a son or brother in the office of another Congressman in return for a like favor.

House members can pay a total of $5,000 a year to two clerks, but

MATRICIDE TRIAL OPENS WITH VERY LITTLE EVIDENCE

Bullet Which Killed St. Louis Woman Never Found

St. Louis, Feb. 14.—(AP)—The state prepared today for testimony in the murder trial of Mrs. Elda Slupsky Duke after admission that it would rely largely on circumstantial evidence in an effort to link her with the slaying of her mother.

Assistant Circuit Attorney Henry W. Simpson told prospective jurors the state had no direct testimony, since Mrs. Duke was the only person present in the family home when her mother, Mrs. Caroline Slupsky, was shot and fatally wounded last May 31.

Mrs. Slupsky, 67 years old, was the widow of "Col." Abe Slupsky, picturesque Republican politician, who died in October, 1936, making her the beneficiary of a $149,000 trust estate. Mrs. Duke, wife of a railroad telegraph operator at Rosiclar, Ill., and mother of two children, now shares the income with her four brothers.

Mrs. Duke's Statement

At the time of the shooting, Mrs. Duke told police she was upstairs in the house, heard the shot and hurried down to find her mother lying in the hall. Mrs. Slupsky, who died June 11 of a wound in the abdomen, said she did not see her assailant.

The fatal bullet has never been found. A few months ago, when workmen began removing the front of the now vacant house to make room for a small restaurant, a revolver with four loaded shells and one discharged cartridge was found under the staircase.

In qualifying a panel of 47 veniremen yesterday for the trial in Circuit Judge Edward M. Ruddy's court, Simpson excused all those who said they had conscientious scruples against capital punishment. He explained, under the charge, the jurors would be required to vote for life imprisonment or the death penalty for Mrs. Duke if they convicted her.

Indicating the defense, Mrs. Duke's attorney asked each venireman: "You wouldn't convict this woman on suspicion, would you?"

Mrs. Euretta Sawyer Passed Away Last Eve

Mrs. Euretta A. Sawyer passed away last evening at 7 o'clock at her home, 610 Spruce street. Euretta Leavens was born in West Brooklyn, April 14, 1855. On March 13, 1876, she was united in marriage to Darius M. Sawyer, who preceded her in death on Dec. 27, 1927.

She is survived by one brother, D. E. Leavens of Steptoe, Wash.; one daughter, Mrs. Mabel Miller; two sons, Wayne W., and Dale M. Sawyer of Dixon; six grandchildren, Mrs. Thelma Good, Mrs. Leona Raffensberger, Everard Sawyer, Ross Miller, Ellsworth Sawyer and Mrs. Beulah Stiller; and seven great grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at the home Wednesday at 2 o'clock. Rev. David Rawls, pastor of the West End Congregational church officiating, interment being in Woodside cemetery at Lee Center. The remains will be at the Jones funeral home until Wednesday morning.

CHURCHES MAY REOPEN

Bucharest, Feb. 14.—(AP)—Rumanian Vice Premier Armand Calinescu today ordered all Baptist churches in Rumania reopened under a decree abandoning old regulations.

Many Baptist churches were closed last fall with enforcement of a little-used law which, among other things, required that a detailed church membership list be furnished to authorities.

Three Princeton Men Land in Lee Co. Jail Monday

Three residents of Princeton were arrested yesterday afternoon by Sheriff Gilbert Finch, Chief Van Bibber and two members of the police force after a two mile chase in which the police car narrowly escaped being struck by an allegedly intoxicated driver, S. P. Salmon. Sheriff Finch was at the police station about 3 o'clock when a call was received from Prairieville, stating that three men, supposedly highly intoxicated were coming toward Dixon, forcing cars and trucks from the highway.

The three members of the police force and the sheriff started west and encountered the trio on Lord's hill, coming toward Dixon. Cars and trucks were being forced from the paving and the officers were unable to halt the car until it reached North Galena avenue, they said. The three men were then removed from their car and hauled to the county jail.

Sheriff Finch filed informations against the three in the county court and upon recommendation of State's Attorney Jones, Charles Hanson, who admitted having served sentences at the Vandalia state work farm, and Robert Jones, were assessed fines of $25 and costs for being intoxicated on a public highway.

Salmon, who stated that he and his friends were enjoying a drinking party which started at Princeton, proceeded to Sterling and then toward Dixon, pleaded guilty to an information charging drunken driving. State's Attorney Jones recommended a jail sentence of 30 days but Judge Grover Gehant pronounced sentence of 60 days, and ordered that Jones and Hanson remain committed until their fines and costs are paid.

Getting Drunk by Smelling Alcohol Offers New Problem

Chapel Hill, N. C., Feb. 14.—(AP)—Getting drunk by smelling alcohol offers medicine a new problem.

The fact that intoxication is possible by smell alone was demonstrated on white rats in the University of North Carolina psychology department. The object of these scientific experiments was to study anesthesia.

The rats which smelled themselves "out" became unconscious just as completely as if they had taken ether.

The scientific question is whether alcohol vapor has any merit for anesthesia over drinking alcohol. The latter was in use for surgery before discovery of ether, and was long ago discarded as more dangerous to the patient than regular anesthesia.

The human effects are to be tested on himself by Dr. A. C. Cornsweet, the psychologist who found that with enough smelling the white rats go through all regular stages of intoxication, from apparent happiness to unconsciousness.

Debate Defenses Program

The party meeting preceded by a few minutes a session of the House at which an important phase of the President's national defense program was the scheduled business.

As the House debated the measure, to provide both personnel and equipment increases for the army, Democratic leaders predicted the chamber would approve it without alteration, despite Republican efforts to spread airplane purchases over the next three years.

While some of the conference speeches were described to reporters as having been critical in tone, several legislators said they had not been caustic and that apparently they were based on a desire to be helpful in obtaining a smoothly operating Democratic machine in the house.

One Democrat was reported to have assailed failure of the appropriations committee to bring the relief and independent offices appropriations measures to the floor in such shape that roll call votes could have been obtained on two issues on which the administration lost.

One was the $150,000,000 cut in WPA funds, the other the $17,000,000 reduction in the TVA appropriation.

COMPLAINTS ARE MADE AT CLOSED PARTY MEETING

Georgian Says White House Would Do Well to 'See' Congress

Washington, Feb. 14.—(AP)—House Democrats heard complaints at a party conference today that there was not enough co-operation between the White House and Democratic legislators.

Several members who attended the closed meeting in the House Chamber asserted that Representative Cox (D-Ga.) had made a rousing speech the tenor of which was that the administration would do well to go along with Congress and not insist so much that Congress go along with it.

While the conference, held in an atmosphere of cigar smoke and general good fellowship, was described by Democratic leaders as entirely harmonious, a number of those present said Cox had spoken of a lack of consultation between the White House and Democratic legislators.

They said the Georgian, who has opposed some administration measures, had suggested that if Roosevelt took members into his confidence more, he would obtain greater co-operation from Congress.

Along Same Line

Representative Randolph (D-WVa.), other Democrats said, spoke along the same line as Cox, protesting Roosevelt's action in sending another special message on relief to Congress after it had made a $150,000,000 reduction in the amount the President had asked for WPA.

Administration leaders in the House were said to have urged harmony and better attendance at House sessions. Majority Leader Rayburn of Texas said he thought the meeting would result in a larger turnout of party adherents at the daily sessions and particularly when important votes are scheduled.

It was the failure of Democrats to turn out last week when the House passed down an appropriation for the Tennessee Valley Authority that led to the meeting today. Republicans have been showing up in force at the daily house sessions.

The soil conservation payments which were announced last fall, will be cotton 2 cents a pound; corn 9 cents a bushel; wheat 16

Question Hoosier in Claw Hammer Slaying

Indianapolis, Feb. 14.—(AP)—

Police questioned a 44-year-old Indianapolis man today in their investigation of the claw hammer killing of Mrs. Carrie Leah Romig, 55, January 17.

Officers withheld the man's name. Chief of Police Michael F. Morrissey said he was arrested on a vagrancy charge after William R. Butsch, 57, of Louisville, Ky., had named him as the man from whom he obtained valuable jewelry that were pawned later.

These jewels, Morrissey said, have been identified as having belonged to Mrs. Romig.

"Boxcar Corrigan," 15, Had Harrowing Week; Is Saved By Chance

Peabody, Mass., Feb. 14.—(AP)—Refreshed by sleep and food, Russell C. Donaldson, 15, the "Boxcar Corrigan," prepared today to return to his Connelville, Pa., home after a harrowing week in a locked freight car which he thought was carrying him from Ohio to sunny Florida.

Russell explained to Peabody police that he saw two cars in the freight yards at Uhrichsville, Ohio, February 5—one billed for Florida, the other for Peabody. During the night he leaped aboard the wrong car and went the wrong way.

For two days he had been too weak from lack of food and water to cry out and it was only by chance that a truck driver unsealed the car of drainage pipes last night.

In Connelville, Russell's father, Charles E. Donaldson, chuckled over the escapade and said he would send anything necessary to get the boy home.

"He's a good boy, but he got mad when I wouldn't let him go to see his girl friend every night of the week and just left home."

AAA ANNOUNCES RATES FOR 1939 CROP ALLOTMENT

Payments to Come From Appropriation of Last Congress

Washington, Feb. 14.—(AP)—The Agricultural Adjustment Administration announced today rates of "price-adjustment" payments which will be made to farmers who plant within their 1939 acreage allotments of cotton, corn, wheat and rice.

Payments will come from $212,000,000 appropriated by the last congress.

The rates: cotton 1.6 cents a pound; corn, 6 cents a bushel; wheat 11 cents a bushel, and rice 12 cents per hundredweight.

Payments, to be made on the normal yield of each farmer's allotted acreage, will supplement soil conservation subsidies from a $500,000,000 appropriation. Checks covering the "price adjusting" payments will be sent to farmers as soon as they furnish proof of compliance with acreage allotments, officials said.

No Payments on Tobacco

No payments will be made on tobacco, they added, since the 1938 average farm price of this crop was above 75 per cent of the "parity" price goal of the crop control law.

North Atlantic Gnashing Teeth With Ferocity

Boston, Feb. 14.—(AP)—

A mounting roster of lives and vessels lost at sea today indicated the North Atlantic is gnashing its white teeth with more than usual ferocity this winter.

Most serious disaster of the season was the sinking last week of the British freighter Maria de Larrinaga, which vanished with her crew of 37 while four steamers battled through furious seas in response to her distress calls. They found only a field of wreckage at the freighter's last announced position, about 1,200 miles east of New York.

Although the coast guard rescued her crew of seven, loss of the four-masted Canadian schooner Laura Annie Barnes attracted much attention because she was one of the last of the windjammers. She ran upon a shoal in Nantucket Sound January 18. A storm found her helpless and finished her.

The Boston fishing trawler Isabella sank off Scituate December 13, but her crew reached shore in a dory. The New York fishing vessel Sally Lee struck a rock outside New Bedford and her owner yesterday abandoned attempts to save her. Cape Cod sands trapped the British motor ship Lutzen and held her fast until the sea could pound her to pieces. One of the Lutzen's crew perished in the surf.

The January storm also claimed the Norwegian tanker Jaguar, which broke in two in mid-Atlantic. Another vessel rescued her crew but as late as February 7 the hydrographic office reported the after section of the tanker still remained afloat, a menace to navigation.

PONTIFF'S BODY AT REST UNDER HIS PAPAL ALTAR

Colorful and Sad Ceremonies Mark Burial of Pope Pius XI

Vatican City, Feb. 14.—(AP)—Pope Pius XI was buried today beneath the great central altar of St. Peter's cathedral.

His triple casket, wrapped in red wool, was lowered to a final resting place in moving, semi-private ceremonies lasting an hour and a half.

The last rites reached a climax as cardinals and bishops, many of them aged and most of them appointees of Pope Pius, filed slowly past the casket.

Over it each made the sign of the cross.

Then the casket was carried in a procession, preceded by a crucifix bearer and long lines of lighted candles.

Before the Altar of the Confession, under the immense dome of St. Peter's, the cortege halted.

Here a framework with ropes and pulleys had been erected beside a sunken altar floor, which was level with the Cathedral grotoes.

The casket was lowered to a metal carriage. While the choir sang its last notes the casket was rolled into the grotoes, to rest near the tombs of Pius XI's two immediate predecessors, Benedict XV and Pius X.

The inner casket was of cypress wood, lined with zinc and red satin. On its cover was a cross of walnut. The middle casket was of lead, one fourth of an inch thick and weighing just under 900 pounds. On its cover, toward the head, was a cross in relief. The outside casket was of polished elm, with a cover likewise surmounted by a cross.

Before the last rites impressive ceremonies were conducted in the chapel. The body of Pius XI was lifted down from the high bier in the Chapel of the Sacrament and carried by eight chair-bearers to a velvet-covered wooden couch.

The chanting of the "Misereere" was repeated, and then "In Paradisum" was chanted. A prelate chanted and imparted the absolution. The choir intoned "Ingradiar."

The bearers, assisted by other attendants, lifted the bier while the choir chanted the psalm "Sicut Servus."

Of Interest to Farmers

D. H. S. Chapter

By Kenneth Hendershott, reporter

This week sees a last minute rush by many of the Ag. boys with each trying to improve his judging in order to participate on the grain or poultry teams which will be held at Stillman Valley on the morning of February 18. Only four more days are left in which actual practice will be obtained. On Friday of this week, the averages of all the students will be summed up to determine the boys who will represent Dixon at the contest. The five highest boys in grain judging will participate as will the three highest fellows in the judging of poultry. Those winning at the sectional contest will be allowed to enter the state contest later in the spring.

In the afternoon after the judging has been completed, the different schools may engage in games or enter the elimination basketball tournament to decide the best team of players-judges. Only boys who participate in the judging contest will be allowed to play games or enter the basketball tournament. This is done to eliminate the possibility of schools bringing along their regular ball players to enter the contest just to win the afternoon affair.

Last week the score of the basketball game was mentioned between the local freshman squad and our FFA players. As we told you, the score was 18-8 in favor of the frosh; well, here is how the score looked at the end of the quarters: 3-2, Frosh; 6-5, Frosh; 9-8, Frosh; and 18-8 for the young squad who got out of control in the last period.

Here is a mighty interesting statement issued by the University of Illinois concerning the amount of water consumed by one acre of corn that produces a yield of only 50 bushels. Experimenters have shown that 700 tons of water is necessary for the above return. This is approximately 6 inches of rain. During the growing season this much rain would be necessary allowing for the run-off and drainage.

A good suggestion for the fellow who uses strong language when his tractor won't start after being stalled in the rain is to put a little kerosene on the ignition wires and sparkplugs will do the trick. The same procedure will hold true on stalled cars caught in a sudden shower. The kerosene may be carried in a small can or pail on the tractor if the tractor is not a kerosene burning engine. wgmhCt etaoi shrdiu cmfwy

Illinois Rural Chorus To Sing at World Fair

The Illinois Rural Chorus of nearly 300 singers and musicians from 36 Illinois counties will climax its sixth successful season with a one-week engagement at the New York World Fair this summer.

D. E. Lindstrom, of the University of Illinois college of agriculture, who is in charge of the chorus, said the group would present a one-hour program at the fair during the week of August 7-13. It will be the chorus' first appearance outside Illinois.

The only singing society of its kind in existence, the organization was begun six years ago as a part of the program of the extension service of the college of agriculture to assist rural residents in planning and executing their own cultural and entertainment activities.

Predicts Many Farmers To Adopt Electricity

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 14—(AP)—Between 25,000 and 35,000 more farm homes will be equipped with electricity before the end of 1939, Warren H. Marple, executive secretary of the state rural electrification committee, predicted today.

Pointing to rapid strides made by cooperatives financed with R. E. A. funds, Marple said, "it seems highly probable that between 86,000 and 90,000 Illinois farms will have electricity."

Only 28,000 farms had electric service in 1936, he said. Rural electrification gains have "exceeded all expectations" and 21 farmer-owned cooperatives are expected to build 9,000 miles of power lines this year, he said.

REPORT PRICE OF WHEAT CHANGES WITH SUPPLIES

Agriculture department economists have reported that a study of wheat prices over a long period showed that a change in world supplies of $50,000,000 bushels ordinarily results in a change of about a cent a bushel in price.

Thus this season's price declines reflect, the economists said, an increase of world supplies from 4,374,000,000 to 5,090,000,000 bushels, the largest on record. The agriculture department has asked American farmers to limit their 1939 planting to an acreage that would produce about 680,000,000 bushels compared with 931,000,000 last year.

Economists said that should the department's goal be attained, the result should tend to raise prices at least 5 cents a bushel, providing production in other countries did not increase. This country is advocating production control measures for other countries.

Other factors the economists said affected domestic wheat prices included the general commodity price level, trade restrictions by wheat-importing countries and ocean freight rates.

The agriculture department said that in the past three decades the income from American wheat ranged from a peak of $1,572,387,000 in 1919 to a low of $199,757,000 in 1932.

The income from the 1938 crop was estimated at $432,691,000 compared with $602,971,000 for the 1937 crop.

The United States produces more than 138,000,000,000 cigarettes annually.

The Dominion of Canada has 363 plants for the production of flour and feed products.

Production Credit Associations

finance all members' credit needs. Members not only borrow to finance their FEEDING OPERATIONS, but also obtain loans to finance all other types of farm operations including breeding herds and flocks. Thus they are able to keep all of their short term borrowings in one place which helps them to build a stronger credit rating, and save on interest costs.

FRANK PRIEBE'S WEEKLY LETTER to POULTRY RAISERS

Chickens aren't being raised as casually as they were ten or fifteen years ago when we set our hens and let them raise the chicks, scattering a little grain for them, but letting them scratch for most of their feed. If we got a good price for the chickens and eggs, we figured we must have made a little money.

Today we're beginning to realize that producing poultry and eggs is a business proposition and that the cost of production makes just as much difference in our profit as the price at which we sell.

Once that fact is recognized, you begin to notice what it costs to produce a pound of poultry and a dozen eggs.

You notice, for instance, that there is as much difference in hatching eggs as there is in seed corn. You find that you can increase the number of eggs per hen just as you can increase the number of bushels per acre—by breeding. You find that your chickens do better if you rotate them, just as you do your field crops.

You begin to keep track of how much feed the chickens eat, how long it takes them to reach 5 pounds, how many eggs you get.

Check Production Costs
You find, perhaps that your hens are using 7 pounds of feed to produce a dozen eggs. Then I tell you I know people whose flocks are producing a dozen eggs on less than 5 pounds of feed. They are obviously making more money than you are. But if they can get a dozen eggs from 5 pounds of feed, you figure you can, too!

So maybe you have your flock culled; maybe you decide you need more feeders or more water fountains; maybe you decide you'll have to get better chicks next season. You figure out some way to get a dozen eggs from 5 pounds of feed—and you increase your profit.

You hear of people who start their chicks early—so early they sometimes have to dig through snowdrifts to get them into the brooder house. Maybe you shake your head and think it's a lot of foolishness. But you change your mind when you see them selling 5 and 6 pound chickens in July—and see the price they get! You think perhaps they weren't so foolish, after all.

And when you see the number of eggs they have to sell in October and November—and see how much they're worth, you make up your mind that another year you're going to get your chicks early, too.

I've had people sit down and show me in black and white how they made 50 per cent more on their poultry by starting their chicks early. I hope you're getting yours early this year.

Sincerely yours,

Frank Pribe,

IN RECEPITIVE MOOD

During debate on the floor of the U. S. Senate not long ago one of our "Treasury Watchdogs" said, about the billions being spent by the New Deal, that "No'th Ca'lina, God bless her, didn't need the money, but she wanted her share."

And by way of helping a prodigal administration spread largess at the tax-payers' expense, here is a sample editorial from the St. Petersburg (Florida) Times, headed "Opportunity at Our Doorstep":

Congress is likely to provide new PWA funds. Will we be prepared to get our share?

Last year we got too late a start. Let's not miss the boat again.

Here are a list of needed projects to consider:

- (1) A municipal auditorium.
- (2) A recreation center including football stadium and baseball diamonds.
- (3) A housing project for the public library.
- (4) New Junior college building and accompanying developments for the new college campus.
- (5) A white collar housing project.
- (6) A $500,000 street improvement project, including plans to abolish bottlenecks.
- (7) Further development of Albert Whitted airport.
- (8) A bridge across Tampa bay to Manatee county. (If private enterprise doesn't prove feasible. This might also be done with RFC money.)
- (9) Development of Mullet key museum and park. (After completion of Manatee span.)
- (10) New museum building for St. Petersburg.
- (11) Remodeling of Spa building on Second avenue north.
- (12) A speedway running the length of Pinellas county. And a better highway along the beaches.
- (13) Gulf highway to Pensacola and beyond.
- (14) Recreational centers on the beaches.

We are farther along than we were this time last year. We have thrashed out some quarrels. And we have learned the bitter lesson of waiting too long.

And this year we have a new planning board which we hope will be useful in composing differences regarding locations.

It is time for various organizations to get their projects prepared and financed. Let's not miss the 1939 boat.

MORE OR LESS LEAD POISONING

As a general rule, when a medical scientist makes a statement concerning public health, he trembles in fear that enthusiastic newspaper writers will sound too great an alarm and have everybody frightened.

Without wishing to scare anybody, we feel that an article in the American Medical Association News bears comment.

It appears that Dr. Horatio B. Williams of New York is concerned over the possibility of lead poisoning as result of eating fruits and vegetables on which arsenate of lead has been sprayed to prevent insect damage.

Ordinarily, a layman would suppose that if he eats something sprayed with a damaging amount of lead, he will immediately lie down and give up the ghost. But not so. It appears that the poison, if there is any present, accumulates in the system, and after a number of years may affect the individual in any one of a number of ways. He may feel that he is simply growing old, or he may develop a nervous disorder, and the greatest skill of his physician would be needed to detect lead poisoning.

It is suggested that ordinary washing with water will not free fruits and vegetables of lead arsenate. Soaking fruits for one minute in a 2 per cent solution of hydrochloric acid, and then washing thoroughly, is supposed to remove the poison.

Now that we have alarmed the public thoroughly, and have succeeded in getting everybody who actually is growing old into the notion that he has a fatal dose of cumulative lead poisoning, we wish to make our point. Lead arsenate is sprayed on fruits to kill insects that would otherwise destroy the fruit.

The alternative to poisoning fruit is to kill the insects in another way. Eating them comes to mind and if we don't wish to eat the insects, then get somebody else to do it. Birds will do the trick neatly and enthusiastically. Kill the family cat that has kept birds in hot water for years. Build bird houses and a bird bath, and feed birds in the winter. Put a curb on air rifles and get the air rifle boy into the Boy Scouts.

If we had enough birds, insects would be thinned out so that they would threaten only a nominal amount of fruit. Instead of all of it, and physicians wouldn't worry over arsenate of lead.

PUPPIES—AND PEOPLE

Just three little German shepherd puppies in a newspaper picture.

Cute little cusses! People looked at the picture and grinned. H'm! It seemed that the Chicago Anti-Cruelty Society wanted to place them in good homes. Poor little pups! No home, no place to go!

That same day there were 300 telephone calls. The next day 200. There were 65 letters, and telegrams from five states. All from people who had been touched by the sight of the little homeless puppies, and who wanted to take them in, and feed them, and give them a home.

And in Spain that night between two and three million human beings huddled before the blast of war, homeless, hungry and hopeless. Innocent people, most of them, old men and women, children. People who did not will Spain's tragedy, who had no part in politics, who wanted nothing but the bartered birthright of man—to eat, to sleep, to work, and to be at peace. Human beings just like the warm and well-fed Chicagoans who wanted to take in the lost puppies.

The puppies each got a home, and that is to the credit of the kind-hearted people who took them in. Surely America is not without other kind hearts who will respond to the appeals of the American Red Cross, which is already feeding 300,000 Spanish children who were, like the stray puppies, homeless, friendless, hungry.

DANGEROUS SERVICE

by GRACE ELLIOTT TAYLOR

THE CHARACTERS

Peter Mallone: Adventurous newspaper correspondent.
Petronella: His accomplished young sister.
Tony Lance: British agent, the man Petrel loves.

Yesterday: The Mallones spend Christmas in Alexandria, guests of Michael, who wants to marry Petrel.

Chapter 24

Petronella stood beside the window of the flat in Alexandria. The room was in darkness except for the small lamp on the desk. Its light caught the sheen of her satin evening dress. It shone like a sheath of rich beauty. Shaded lighting could do much, she thought, glancing down at the material. It made a dress which was tired, rubbed and old, look lusty and new. It made you look younger, if you were getting old, fresh, if you had danced too long, and too often, and were tired. This frock had been new when she came to Alexandria. Now, two weeks later, though it was to be listed among her "successful" gowns, it had seen its life.

Not far out, at sea, were the lanterns of the fishing boats, they formed a twinkling circle as they closed in upon their nets. Those were the headlights of Mike's car, now, coming along the road. Soon she would be dancing under the gray guns, with rubicund Lieutenant Jim Blake, serious Flag-Lieutenant Andrews, the little surgeon, the charming, impersonal Captain. She would be standing with Michael for the last time. That thought saddened her.

She heard Michael's ring, and went and let him in.

"Hello, my dear. A drink before we go?"

"Yes! But don't turn on the lights. The coast look good through that window." He came and stood beside her. His arm slipped round her waist, and pulled her close to him.

"There's something I'd better repeat, in case you've forgotten since last night. I love you. Will you marry me?"

She shook her head. "No, Mr. fool! This visit has been heavenly. Too perfect, Michael. Just one long party. This place, the climate, the life, have all conspired together to make me feel, too, that perhaps—"

"Perhaps?"

"Perhaps I do love you. But I don't know. I want to be sure. I've felt like this before, Mike, for other men. Actually fond, and happy. But it passes. Peter has a wire from his editor. I cross a frontier. We find ourselves in a country where the people talk a different language, where the rhythm of life is different. The feeling I hoped was going to last, goes. It is just a memory, sweet, but trivial. It hasn't any power to hurt me, Mike. That is why I don't think I love you. You see, there is someone else, who has."

"In heaven's name, why ask for misery?" he groaned. "Why should love cause you pain? Woman! Stop talking!"

He kissed her. Was it possible that he was right? Had she held the wrong conception of love for a long time? Was this all?

She disengaged herself. "Let me cross that frontier." "This time you'll come back!" He was very triumphant and sure. Other women had rendered Michael quite certain of his attraction. If only he were right, wished Petrel. She did not want to go. She wished that he would forbid her, keep her here, against her will, until her will was gone. But he released her.

"You know, you're awfully odd in some ways, darling. Very young, and immature, if you'll forgive my saying so. You take life so seriously."

"Someone" once said life was a comedy to those who think, a tragedy to those that feel. I can't help feeling."

"But do you really believe in spiritual love, Petrel? The couples who marry don't feel that about each other. They take a chance. Sometimes it goes well, sometimes poorly. If it's unbearable, they pack it up. It is the adult way to regard love. As an adult, I believe it would go well. And you're wonderful, Petrel. You are a lovely girl."

"I'm not, Mike. That is why I don't think I love you. You see, there is someone else, who has."

"In heaven's name, why ask for misery?" he groaned. "Why should love cause you pain? Woman! Stop talking!"

have so much. Do you realize that?"

"International Young Woman"

"I feel I have very, very little. Just a propensity for being useful and common sense." His hand across her mouth silenced her.

"No! And you're, sometimes beautiful. You can go anywhere, talk to anybody. You're an international young woman."

"That doesn't sound decent." She laughed. But she listened on her fingers. "A dictator, an Archbishop, a deposed monarch, an admiral, and Communists, Fascists, anarchists, atheists, Marxists, philosophers, poets, radicals, film stars and missionaries—I've met, or sat next to them all at dinner! But, perhaps, you're right, Michael. Experience doesn't necessarily bring maturity."

"But, Petrel—"

"We must go; you've spoiled my face, and we're missing the party."

"This time tomorrow, it won't be here to spoil. What a horrible thought!"

"I think I know several other faces that will be pleased to remedy the deficiency. They haven't been looking very friendly."

"They don't want to."

But even while he kissed her, she knew that they would count again, when she was gone. If she did not return, Michael did not understand love, she thought, even when you wanted to be free. Love, like that single, relentless love of hers, which could cross all frontiers, and be with her still.

From immediately overhead, in the searing blue of heaven, the sun beat down upon the hot, glaring pavement of Cairo. It was midday. The shaded balconies and lounges of "Shepherds" and the "Continental Hotel" were full of Europeans wearing light suits, and drinking long drinks. The jingle of the two-horned ghazies, which sounded along the large square, with its gray statue, intermingled with the clinking of ice in their glasses. Both were lost amid the other sounds of Cairo. Street hawkers cried their trashy merchandise as they passed, laden with Eastern carpets, silks, or beads.

In the distance, if all other sounds had ceased suddenly, could have been heard another, uglier burble. In a mean street, the followers of Naha Pasha had stood listening to an impassioned speaker. Many of them were students, and young rowdies, armed with sticks and bricks. Now, they worked up to a frenzy of excitement and resentment, they turned. In a shouting, jostling throng they rushed towards the main thoroughfare. There, they would overthrow more trolley cars, uproot more lamp-posts, break more British windows.

"Down with Sir Samuel Hoare! Down with Sir Samuel Hoare! Down with Sir Samuel Hoare!" they chanted. They were their indistinguishable cries.

This was a day in November of 1935. Sir Samuel Hoare's reply to the Wafd's demand for a return to the 1923 treaty, mercilessly modified by Sir Evelyn Pasha, seven years later, had just been published. It appeared in many Egyptian papers and leaflets, in a much twisted version. The mob wept, not because they were angry, but because vague promises from the British government. They did not care to look forward to "settlement at a more opportune moment." When, for example, Mussolini's troops had ceased crowding through the canal to Eritrea. They would continue to demonstrate more violently than ever, until their problem received attention.

And was "Love of a Lady?"

But because the police in Cairo, mounted on their white Arab horses, are some of the finest in the world, they could continue drinking and playing. Gently, the white horses stepped, sideways, pushing, coaxing, and steering the angry crowd.

Standing in the shelter of a doorway, an Englishman stood watching them, admiringly. "Good work!" he commented aloud. He had thoughtful eyes, and long, strong features. He was very broad, gathering that to the attention in this quarter of the town was under control, he turned. He, and his foreshortened shadow, strode in the direction of the Continental Hotel. But a smile came to Tony's face, because of the white-robed, slipped little Arab who detached himself from an adjoining wall, and shuffled after him.

"The thought: 'Darn them! Already! They know everything.' He had been here only twelve hours, yet he was being watched. It was an inconvenience to which he was accustomed."

As he entered the lounge of his hotel with its chattering mid-day crowd, its red leather and chromium modernity, he heard a voice call to him:

"Hi there, Tony!"

"Why, Mike, this is fine."

"Where have you sprung from?"

"Abyssinia and other places."

"Same old, same old, eh? Come and have a drink. Either they mix them well here, or Cairo gives me a better thirst than Alexandria."

"I might as well ask you the same question. Why are you here?"

"Business for H. E., and the love of a lady."

"I see."

"You do not," Michael responded gloomily. "What'll you have?" He ordered their drinks. "No, I was a fool to come, and I'm leaving soon. Wish I'd done the whole business over the telephone."

"I'd like to see the girl who can cast you into such despondency. You look almost sober."

"Trouble is that when I tell myself there are plenty of others it doesn't work. There aren't any like her."

Tony laughed at him.

"I should like to see this unique, Tony stopped. He was staring. But Michael had not noticed."

"Talk of an angel—there she is—just coming in through the door, with her hat in her hand! Looks as if she's in a hurry, so I won't stop her. News for the gang, by the look of her. In a minute, you'll see them all come tumbling out of the elevator. She's a very well-known young woman. You've probably heard of her; heard some of the legends about her. Petrel Mallone."

Tony Lance answered casually. "I don't think so. What kind of legends?"

In New York

BY GEORGE ROSS

New York—Twice told tales are apt to be pretty dull and the Hines trial now dragging its weary way through the courts is in this category.

When James J. Hines, the bull-necked former blacksmith who became the strongest individual figure in Tammany Hall, went on trial the first time, every word of testimony was awaited with bated breath.

There was a mistrial. Now he is in the midst of his second prosecution on the same charge—that he sold to the Dutch Schultz numbers lottery protection from police and the courts.

There is apathy in Harlem where the numbers game gets most of its $20,000,000 a year take. At the first trial, every time a number was mentioned all Harlem plunged its pennies, nickels and dimes on it. A policy banker informed us that there was hardly any increase at all in play on the numbers brought out in the second trial.

He tells us, incidentally, that he got hit hard not long ago on a certain number. When he checked to discover why the number was so heavily played, he found out that a woman in a Times Square hotel had leaped to her death from a room with that number.

All of the several hundred employees in the hotel pooled their money to play the three digits. They got back 600 to 1.

Black Luck

Superstition Note: Connie Boswell entertained a group of 500 crippled children on a recent Friday the 13th. After her performance the kids gathered around Connie for autographs.

One little lad presented her with a playing card to sign—the one bearing the proverbially unlucky ace of spades. Connie photographed the card, but being superstitious, began to brood about that evening.

The following day she became ill, and found that everything generally went wrong. She could not rest until her husband got in touch with the sponsor of the affair, who located the autographed ace of spades and wheeled it away from its proud possessor.

The card was immediately burned and everything's all right with Connie again.

Some Items Behind the News in National Capital Today

BY BRUCE CATTON

Dixon Evening Telegraph Washington Correspondent

Washington, Feb. 14—If it accomplished nothing else, the recent dust-up over the sale of American war planes to France at least emphasized the fact that the American airplane today is a highly prized bit of equipment in air forces all over the world.

There is nothing new about the sale of American military planes to foreign countries. It has been going on for a long time in steadily increasing volume. Indeed, the fact seems to be that American fighting planes and motors are integral parts of the fighting fleet of nearly every great nation.

Last year, for instance, licenses were issued for the export to Great Britain of $26,000,000 worth of military planes, plus $850,000 worth of motors.

Other licenses issued during the year provided for the export of nearly $6,000,000 worth of fighting planes to China, $8,000,000 worth to the Netherlands East Indies, $6,000,000 worth to the Argentine and more than $5,000,000 worth to France.

And still more

These are only a few of the military airplane export licenses listed at the State Department. Japan, incidentally, last year bought military planes worth $1,734,000. Nazi Germany took $106,000 worth of airplane engines. Soviet Russia bought non-military planes and airplane motors worth upwards of $2,100,000. Brazil got $1,260,000 worth of war planes from the United States. Peru took $837,000 worth and far-off Siam bought to the extent of $535,000.

Nor does that tell the whole story. Some time ago Germany negotiated for, and got, the right to build airplane motors to American patents. In the same way, Russia for more than a year has been building planes on American models. (The fact that American manufacturers say that neither the Germans nor the Russians are turning out as good a job as the American originals is beside the point, most likely.)

About the military planes sold abroad are only part of the story. American commercial planes are in vast demand abroad. The Dutch are particularly sold on them. Their famous KLM line from Amsterdam to India, Java and Australia uses American transports and is highly popular; incidentally, it might be worth noting that in rebuilding their East Indies military air force the Dutch are relying largely on American planes.

Beautiful—And Good

Age apparently cannot wither the charm of the Ziegfeld girls who are hard at work now preparing for their fourth annual ball next month.

Some years ago, many of the beauties entitled to the distinction of "Ziegfeld Girl" formed the "Ziegfeld Club," devoted to reunions and to assistance for the less fortunate sisters of the golden era of the girl shows. The club is now a thriving institution and has supplied clothes and room rent to a number of former Ziegfeld stars such as Mary Nolan who used to be Imogene (Bubbles) Wilson.

The girls—they'll always be girls—deny, incidentally, that some of them are trying to avoid the Ziegfeld Girl label because they would be dating themselves.

Woman Bites Front Page

Albert Crockett, the raconteur of the Biltmore, was saddened by the recent death of actress Helen Ware but, as usual, the event elicited an anecdote.

Miss Ware, according to Crockett, was the original of the story "Woman Carried Away by Departing Liner" and the event took place in 1907 when Walter Kingsley, the demon press agent, conceived the plot.

Kingsley had Miss Ware board the old French liner Lorraine and shriek from the railing as the ship put out to sea. As her anguished voice rose a tug puffed out and took her off the liner. Crockett, then a reporter, turned the yarn in to his city desk but it was rejected (because of its press agent flavor).

The next day, says Crockett, the World gave the story a spread and his own editor called him in and screamed: "Hereafter don't tell me that a yarn was staged by a press agent. Can't you keep a secret?"

Success!

When Milt Herth, who plays swing music on the electric organ, developed his own style of hot playing he incurred his wife's displeasure. Mrs. Herth wanted him to be the master of a church keyboard as he was originally back in his native Wisconsin.

But she is happy now. Herth is playing his current engagement at Chez Firehouse—a night club that used to be a church.

commercial air lines overseas is a tough job, because most of those lines are heavily subsidized by their respective governments and do their buying in the home factories regardless. Consequently, say aviation people here, the figures on the number of foreign-built planes used on European commercial lines don't really tell the story.

They do say, though, that when commercial liners are sold strictly on merit, with no nationalistic political considerations involved, the American brand usually comes out on top. Incidentally, on routes where American liners compete with European-built craft, it is the American ships which are more popular with the traveling public.

Every so often someone comes back from Europe to report that American planes are being outclassed in two respects. First, because European designers are far ahead in the business of building in-line, liquid-cooled motors, which offer far less head resistance than the American radial, air-cooled motors; and second, because European military planes can attain higher speeds.

In answer, it is admitted that American designers have not got very far with the in-line motor, but it is pointed out that the radial motor is lighter and more compact, than on single-motored ships it is no wider than the fuselage and hence creates no added wind resistance, and that American transport planes still outsell their European-built competitors when no considerations but the inherent value of the planes is involved.

And as to speed, foreign military planes have attained speeds of 400 miles an hour or better—but the argument is that those speeds have been won at the sacrifice of maneuverability. A typical American pursuit or combat ship, it is argued, would run rings around those speedsters because it could climb, turn and twist about far more readily.

Hearts are Always Trumps on St. Valentine's Day

Ogle County Brides Don Wedding Costumes, Today; Mendota Couple Also Weds

Prayer books, orange blossoms, and Lohengrin, as well as hearts, cupids, and other capricious motifs of St. Valentine's Day add interest to today's special calendar. Two young women from Ogle county were among the list of brides donning wedding costumes today, and a Mendota bride also chose the romantic date as the perfect time for her marriage.

At 8 o'clock this morning, a nuptial mass was celebrated at St. Patrick's church in Rochelle for Miss Elizabeth Binz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. F. Binz, and Paul O'Neill, Rochelle attorney, son of the Thomas O'Neill of Rochelle. The Rev. Father Thomas O'Brien heard the vows.

Mrs. James Solon of Streator sang during the ceremony, accompanied on the organ by Mrs. J. A. Hermann.

The bride wore a costume suit of aqua blue with burgundy accessories, and her flowers were violets. Her maid of honor, Miss Ethel Hoarty of Streator, a former classmate at Rosary college, chose a black costume suit. She carried pink roses.

Anthony Crowley of Salem, the bridegroom's classmate at Notre Dame, served as best man.

Following the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was served at the Hotel Collier for the bridal party and immediate relatives.

The bride, who was graduated from Rochelle high school, formerly attended Rosary college at River Forest, and has been teaching for four years. She has been a member of the Streator faculty for the past two years.

The bridegroom, also a graduate of Rochelle high school, was graduated from the University of Notre Dame law school in 1935. He has been practicing law in Rochelle, and is prominent in Ogle county Democratic circles.

Out of town guests at the wedding today included Mrs. George Lucas of Chicago, Mrs. Agnes Hoarty, Miss Ethel Hoarty, Mrs. Freda Hoyle, and Lowell Stranzenback of Streator, and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Plummer of Wheaton.

Zimmerman-Anderson
Miss Mary June Zimmerman, daughter of the A. M. Zimmermans of Rochelle, became the bride of Vernon A. Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elver Anderson of Malta, Ill., in a single ring ceremony solemnized at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the home of the bride's parents, 700 Tenth street. The Rev. Frank Campbell, pastor of the Rochelle Presbyterian church, performed the nuptial rites.

The traditional "Bridal Chorus" from "Lohengrin", played on the piano by Miss Helen Phelps, was the signal for the entrance of the bride. Mrs. Arthur Hoogheem of Clinton, Iowa was matron of honor, and Dr. Everett Anderson of Kewanee served his brother as best man.

The bride, who walked with her father, wore a street-length frock of navy blue. Mrs. Hoogheem chose a street frock of dusty rose. Their corsage bouquets were of roses and sweetpeas.

A reception for 36 guests followed the ceremony.

Mrs. Anderson was graduated from Rochelle Township high school with the class of 1935, and has been employed in the office of the California Packing company for the past two years. The bridegroom, a graduate of DeKalb high school in 1933, is engaged in farming.

After a brief wedding trip, the couple will be at home on a farm southeast of Malta.

During the past week, Miss Zimmerman has been complimented at several pre-nuptial parties. Her co-workers at the California Packing corporation were entertaining on Tuesday evening. Miss Emma King was Wednesday evening's hostess, assisted by Miss Mabel Park. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Zimmerman entertained for the bride-to-be on Friday evening.

Schwarz-Whitmore
Holy Cross Cathedral in Mendota was the scene of a nuptial mass celebrated at 6 o'clock this morning, which Mrs. Ruth Schwarz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hochstetter of Mendota, exchanged marriage vows with Lynn

Plan Supper Party For Valentines

Lace frills are all very well, and a satin box of candy or flowers is appreciated. But Lee County Home Bureau members are giving their Valentines a scramble supper and an evening of fun at St. Patrick's hall in Amboy tonight.

Mrs. Louis Gonigan, Jr., the county recreation chairman, has a varied program of music, stunts, and recreation planned. Rural Youth members and their families are to be special guests.

CUB SCOUTS AND PARENTS ENJOY SUPPER PARTY

Den Chief service certificates were presented to Eustace Shaw and Marshal Bunnell, when 50 Cub Scouts and their parents met last evening at the South Central school for a scramble supper. Short talks were made by E. A. Rowley, Boy Scout director, and Willard Moore, Cub Master.

After the supper, the parents conducted a business meeting, and members of the Cub pack met in the gymnasium for a play period.

SOUTH SIDE CLUB
Mrs. I. B. Hofer, 510 North Dement avenue, was hostess at luncheon yesterday for members of the South Side bridge club.

Dan Cupid's Day Is Greeted By Lacy Valentines; School Postoffices Hold Missives

Whether it be said with red roses, a red satin heart-shaped box of bon bons, or the quaint old-fashioned lace Valentine, today requires that an avowal of affection be made to sweetheart or wife. Besides the traditional token, some sort of happy celebration is expected in recognition of St. Valentine's Day, and numerous parties make the occasion socially significant.

The coquettish spirit of the date has lingered through the centuries, and modern youth, like the Romans of long ago, loves to wear its heart on its sleeve. Valentine postoffices were doing duty today for nearly 1,200 Dixon students enrolled in the new Lincoln, South Central, North Central, and Loveland grade schools, with each room enjoying its own particular observance of the day.

Both sentimental and comic missives were addressed to friends for delivery in most instances. In some instances, the Valentine parties at school were preceded by special observances of Lincoln's birthday yesterday. Repetition of the pledge of allegiance and the immortal speech made by the emancipator at Gettysburg, and singing of patriotic songs were included on most of the programs.

WA-TAN-YANS PLAN BENEFIT
Dixon chapter of Wa-Tan-Yans are hoping for generous patronage of their benefit card party on Thursday evening, for proceeds are to be used for a deserving project—corrective treatment of the physical defects of a young Dixon school girl. Tables for auction, contract, and 500 will be formed at the Elks clubhouse at 8 o'clock.

Final arrangements for the affair will be discussed this evening when members of the various committees are to meet at the Chamber of Commerce office at 7:30 o'clock.

Duis School Plans Program

Pupils of the Duis school and their teacher are planning a box social and program for Friday evening at the school. The entertainment will be presented at 8 o'clock, and includes the following numbers:

Music, rhythm band; playlet, "Why Paul Didn't Run Away," Maurice Reed, George and Raymond Pitzer; nursery rhymes in song, Lois Ortigies and Charles Beard; poem, "Whispering," Helen Beard; playlet, "Marie Misses Marriage," Frances Siefkin, Paul Beard, Lester Levan, and Doris Flessner; rhythm games, lower grades; song, "Johnny Had the Hiccups," Helen Beard and Rosa Flessner; "My Nose," Lois Ortigies.

"What a Funny Little Bird," Charles Beard; "A Letter to Hans," Jesse Ortigies; music, Herbert and Grace McClanahan of Eldena; "Shiver Song" and "Bohunkus," boys; balcony scene from Romeo and Juliet-1939, Darwin Reed and Mrs. Rubey; "Popcorn Song" and "The Owl and the Parrot," girls; poem, "When Pop Was a Boy," Raymond Pitzer; songs, the school; stunts, eighth grade; "Captain Jinks," the school.

Miss Herman Has Valentine Dinner

Miss Kathryn Herman's party table reflected the Valentine motif when she entertained at dinner Friday evening in celebration of her 21st birthday anniversary. Games of knock-knock rummy provided an evening of fun, following the dinner, with Miss Josephine May and Miss Ethel Cline winning prizes.

Gift packages were brought by the guests, who were Mrs. Kenneth Detweiler, Mrs. James Furlong, and the Misses Helen Krug, Ethel Cline, Josephine May, Phyllis Andrews, and Evelyn Schumacher.

ANNOUNCE FRY-VINCENT RITES

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Florence Fry, daughter of the Walter Frys of Mendota, and Eugene Vincent, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Vincent of West Brooklyn. The nuptials were solemnized Saturday morning at the Catholic church in West Brooklyn.

Ravioli Supper Is Party Treat

When Mr. and Mrs. Louis Bevilacqua of Nelson entertained with a ravioli supper Sunday evening, their son, Tony, who was celebrating his twenty-first birthday anniversary, was guest of honor. Both birthday wishes and good-byes were said by the invited guests, as Tony expects to leave soon on a month's vacation trip, which will take him to the San Francisco Exposition and other points in California.

Supper covers were laid for 18 Dixon and Nelson friends at a long table lighted with blue tapers in crystal holders. Rose Bevilacqua of Chicago, Josephine Bevilacqua, and Linnette Buzzarri assisted Mrs. Bevilacqua with the serving.

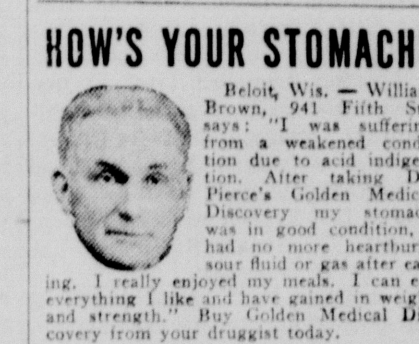

Card games and dancing were pastime, after the supper. In the party were Betty Merriman, Helen Deviney, Emily Swan, Ada Venier, Betty Moerschbaecher, Rose Bevilacqua, Dorothy Stitzel of Nelson, Josephine Bevilacqua, Maxine Campbell, Earl Nolan, Lyle Myers, Lyle Snader, Louis Bevilacqua, Jr., Pete Moore, Tom Richards, Floyd Smith, Jr., Martin Tayman, James Hey, James Miller of Nelson, and Tony Bevilacqua.

Phyllis Carson of the Manhattan team had high series in the ladies league at the Dixon Recreation bowling alleys last night with games of 186-162-190 for 538. Emma Wilhelm of Poole's team had 145-168-190 for 515. Pearl Detweiler of Bon Ton rolled 179-173-159 for 511. Other good games included: A. Hoberg, 206; L. Poole, 179; L. LeGore, 171; E. Neff, 174; G. Finch, 180; H. Klein, 182 and H. Huyett, 172.

The Green and Black of Rock Falls rallied Saturday night to defeat Oregon High in a Rock River Valley conference game. The Oregon reserves won the preliminary game by a score of 31 to 23. On Saturday night of this week the Dixon Sharpshooters will play at Rock Falls for the second game with the Green and Black.

Oregon high school will meet the runner-up of the Franklin Grove section in the first game of the regional to be held at 7:30 p. m. on March 1 at Mt. Morris. In the second game at 8:30 o'clock Polo will meet Rochelle. On March 2 Leaf River is slated to meet the winner of the Franklin Grove section in the first game and Mt. Morris to meet Forreston in the second.

In thirteen straight victories the Knacks cage team has scored 416 points as compared to 210 tallies chalked up by its opponents. Six of these games have been outside the Industrial League competition and have included such victims as the Brant Little Five and independent teams from Rochelle, Sterling, Oregon, Franklin Grove and Sandwich.

The St. Mary's grade school basketball team defeated the St. Joseph school squad at Freeport Sunday afternoon by a score of 27 to 2. The local young players have lost only one game thus far in the season.

A week from tonight the independent team of Ashton and Steward will meet in the first game of a twin bill to be presented at the Mills-Petrie Memorial gym. In the second and feature contest of the evening the Dixon Knacks will play the Rochelle Del Monte squad.

Tonight's activities include: Forreston at Shannon, Amboy at Lee Center, Stillman Valley at Byron, Earlville at Mendota, the Dixon I. N. U. at Erie, the Panthers vs. Jaguars in the volley ball league at the Dixon high school, and the City League at the Dixon Recreation bowling alleys.

Tomorrow night the Industrial league will wind up its second round of play when the Knacks and I. N. U. meet in the first game of the evening and Borden and Reynolds clash for the second. It is expected that about only three series of games will be played in the third round because of the conflicting dates with the high school tournament to be held here starting March 1.

On Feb. 24 the two leaders in the North Central conference, Mendota and Belvidere, will play at Belvidere. This should be the bang-up game of the season with both teams running neck and neck in the league to date. Both Mendota and Belvidere have small, low-ceiling gyms for home courts and the balance of power would seem to be well established to make this a whiz-dinger.

FUTURE STATUS OF WESLEYAN COACHES REMAINS IN DOUBT

Bloomington, Ill., Feb. 14.—(AP)—The future status of Coach Harry Bell and Physical Education Director H. E. Parker is a subject of speculation today on the Illinois Wesleyan campus.

The board of trustees declined to renew their contracts at the semi-annual session yesterday and declined to say whether they would be retained, but promised a decision within two weeks.

Both faculty members have been at Wesleyan for four years, Bell coaches football, basketball and track, Parker coaches baseball and freshmen football and is in charge of physical education.

Differences between Coach Bell and some members of the basketball squad came to light yesterday when the names of five players, all members of the same fraternity, were missing from the traveling roster posted for the DePaul game.

The team took a 58 to 19 defeat at Chicago last night from DePaul while the five players remained at home. They were Co-Captains George Walker, forward, and Frank Soeka, guard; Ray Temple, forward; Harry Fuller, guard, and Al Monahan, center.

Parker said last night he believed he and Coach Bell had been "able to cooperate in a satisfactory manner" and expressed the opinion "I am not implicated in the difficulty between Mr. Bell and the players."

At Chicago before last night's game Coach Bell attributed the trouble to outside interference exerted through the fraternity to which the five players belong.

"An alumnus of the school, working through his old fraternity, has been trying to run athletics at Wesleyan for a long, long time," Bell said, "and the latest trouble is but another in a long line of disturbances traceable to this situation."

Indiana Trims Chicago, 46 to 33

Hoosiers Strengthen Lead in the Big Ten

BIG TEN RACE IS NARROWED DOWN TO THREE TEAMS

Hoosiers Take Their 5th Straight Victory By Downing Maroons

Chicago, Feb. 14.—(AP)—The Big Ten basketball race apparently had narrowed down today to Indiana, league leader, Ohio State and Purdue—the only three teams which have lost less than three games.

The Hoosiers racked up their fifth straight victory last night, Chicago's cellar-dwelling Maroons being the victim, 46 to 33. Purdue blasted Minnesota out of the title picture, for the time being at least, with a 30 to 20 decision.

Northwestern continued to display an improved team in winning over Wisconsin, 37 to 27, and Illinois dumped Michigan farther into second division with a 35 to 28 victory.

Indiana's triumph was its sixth in seven league games and gave the Hoosiers another boost toward the title, with Northwestern and Iowa their next opponents. Ohio State was idle, thereby hanging on second place in front of Illinois and Purdue tied for third.

Have Outside Chance
Illinois and Minnesota have dropped three games apiece and have only an outside chance to regain a contending position in the championship race.

The hapless Chicago team gave Indiana a stiff fight all the way, trailing by only two points with five minutes to play. But at this point the visitors poured four field goals through the hoop and won going away.

Purdue was especially impressive in holding the Gophers to a scant 20 points, Gordon Addington, forward, taking high point honors for the losers with only eight counters. The Boilermakers, last season's champion, have jumped from a tie for ninth place to a tie for third place in eight days.

All three of the top-ranking contenders face second division opposition Saturday. Indiana entertains a dangerous Northwestern team, Ohio State takes on Iowa at home and Purdue plays at Wisconsin. The other week-end game brings together Michigan and Chicago on the latter's home floor.

Notions Vie for Air Over South America

COMMERCIAL aviation is spreading a gigantic network over the peaks and the jungles and the rich farm lands of South America these days and Germans and Americans are gripped in competition.

Pioneers in aviation to the south, the Americans no longer have things "all their own way."

A new network of German Lufthansa lines will now take the traveler or shipper almost anywhere on the continent.

But more important, Lufthansa has now connected the west coast of South America with the east coast at the point where direct connection by air with Europe is available.

From Lima, Peru, the German planes now hop directly over the Brazilian jungles to Natal, where direct connection is made with the German and French trans-Atlantic lines. This means that not only is the east coast of South America closer in air time to Europe than to North America, but the west coast is now practically as close.

The American airways, Panair and Panagra (east and west coast lines of Pan-American Airways) are still by far the best organized on the continent. In general, they skirt the coast nearly all the way around the continent, linking the capitals of every country, and cutting off the tip of South America with their spectacular route over the "Notch" between Santiago, Chile, and Mendoza, Argentina. Here the planes fly at an altitude of more than 20,000 feet through a pass in the Andes where even at this altitude the mountains tower on either side of the huge sky ships.

Seabiscuit Favorite In Handicap Today

Los Angeles, Feb. 14.—(AP)—Seabiscuit, reigning king of the turf and winter book favorite in the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap which he lost twice by a nose, headed a three-horse field nominated for a $2,000 handicap today at one mile.

Various other candidates for the Santa Anita, the country's richest horse race, were scheduled to see action in another event at a mile and one-sixteenth.

A sloppy track twice has delayed Seabiscuit's 1939 debut at Santa Anita. With fair weather promised, the strip today was expected to be fast. No rain has fallen for almost a week.

Opposing C. S. Howard's Biscuit were Marica, the champion mare owned by Tom Taggart, and Nell S. McCarthy's today. The racing secretary assigned Seabiscuit 128 pounds, Marica 113 and Today 104. Handicappers established the champion an odds-on favorite, predicting he might be as low as 1-10 by post time.

It will be the Howard Pride's first start since last fall, when he whipped War Admiral by four lengths at Pimlico.

Topflight Golfers Go To New Orleans Open

New Orleans, Feb. 14.—(AP)—The nation's top-ranking golfers were moving into New Orleans today for the $10,000 Crescent City open — the richest tournament of the winter schedule — which starts Thursday.

Sam Snead, Tony Manero and Johnny Goodman were here yesterday and got in practice rounds on the course. Manero carded a 71, one under par. Henry Picard and Jack Grout tried a few practice shots.

The prize money is being put up personally by Mayor Robert S. Maestri.

Fans Want to Know If "That Bum", Tony Galento, Can Really Fight

By GAYLE TALBOT

Miami Beach, Fla., Feb. 14.—(AP)—The most amazing thing I've run into on this trip is the tremendous popular interest in Tony Galento. If one person has asked me "can that bum really fight?" there have been a hundred.

It amazed me particularly because around New York we had about decided that the country as a whole was fed up on reading about the East Orange, N. J., fat boy. The series of odorous fights he had engaged in this winter, climaxed by the Nattie Brown affair in Detroit, had caused us to decide on a virtual Galento moratorium until Tony fought a real fighter.

But it's no use. Through six or seven states the conversation almost invariably has come around to this: "So, you've seen this Tony Galento fight? Can he fight, or is he just a joke, like some of the fellows make out? Has he got a chance of whipping Joe Louis?"

I'll be doggone if I know how good a fighter Galento is.

Tony is a good friend of mine. In fact, we were out on the hot beach together today arguing about whether he has a chance of beating Joe Louis.

I told him about the number of persons who were interested in his fighting ability. That didn't surprise him. I asked him for once to get serious and not give me that same line about I'll knock out dat bum.

Tony is Serious

"All right," he consented. "I'll tell you serious. I can take anything Joe Louis can hit me in that stomach. I got muscles in that stomach from when I was an iceman and I used to go running up two flights of steps with two 50-pound chunks of ice held up in my arms. Louis can't hurt me there. All I can say about him knockin' me out is that I never been knocked off my feet yet, much less knocked out."

"Now, you tell me whether Joe Louis can take this left of mine when I sink it in his belly like this. I say Louis is afraid of me, and I'll knock him out if they give me that fight next June."

That's Tony's fairly serious answer.

Queried next for an "honest answer," Tony's manager, Joe Jacobs declared:

"I still say Louis can't take it." Jacobs claims he saw a look of abject fear in Louis' eyes the night Max Schmeling hammered the present champion to the canvas.

And I think maybe he is sincere in believing that Galento can win the title if given the chance.

Does that clear up the Galento situation any? Probably not.

This much I'll say for sure, fat Tony really can fight. He doesn't need to be fed has-beens.

Pooh-Poohs Lack of Signatures as Any Holdout by Pirates

Pittsburgh, Feb. 14.—(AP)—Bill Benswanger, head man of the Pittsburgh Pirates, "pooh-poohed" today talk that the failure of seven players to sign 1939 contracts meant holdout trouble.

Sixteen members of the Pirate team that collapsed in the closing days of the 1938 National Pennant League chase to give the Cubs the championship have signed, but Benswanger still has to enlist, among others, the "poison twins", Outfielders Paul and Lloyd Waner.

Captain Gus Suhr, who holds down first base, utility infielder Bill Brubaker and Pitchers Jim Tobin, Eddie Brandt and Bill Swift also have not accepted Pirate terms.

The deadline for signing contracts is Wednesday, "but it doesn't mean a thing," Benswanger said, adding the failure to sign was "routine," a seasonal haggling over terms that "are ironed out after negotiations."

Furthermore, the Buccaneers are going to be "right up there in the 1939 pennant race, he said.

Paul "Big Poison" Waner, once the highest paid of the Pirates, and who regularly balks at signing, was reported to have been asked to take a salary cut because of an indifferent 1938 season.

But Manager Pie Traynor refused to worry about Paul, saying he could plug Heinie Manush or Fern Bell into Waner's rightfield spot. Traynor said, however, he would visit Suhr and Brubaker to talk salary terms.

This tournament is sponsored by the Illinois Basketball Association of Carlinville and will be held in Mt. Morris on Feb. 22, 23, 24, 25, and 27. Last minute entries from the Morrison sectional are expected to bring the total entries well over twenty-five. Up to Saturday, which was the original deadline, 23 teams had filed their official entries with the secretary.

Should the additional entries bring the total entries more than 24 it will be necessary to add Tuesday, February 28 to the playing dates of the tourney. Drawings will be made tomorrow and all teams will be notified as to their playing date and time. Manager Bill Wohlschegel will be assisted by a special committee in making up the drawings and everyone is assured of the same fair treatment received last year.

Wilson Ready to Don Mask for Cincinnati

Bradenton, Fla., Feb. 14.—(AP)—Jimmy Wilson said today he'd leave the coaching box and don a mask and mitt again if his new team, Cincinnati, needs him.

Striding into the clubhouse after his first game of the winter season, the former manager of Philadelphia's National League club was anxious to talk baseball.

"I'm tickled to death with my new place," he declared, "but any job would be better than managing the Phils."

Jimmy was one of the best catchers in the league until he gave up active service and tried from the bench to pry Philadelphia out of the cellar.

The Phillies had one of their poorer seasons last year and Wilson started looking around for greener pastures. Manager Bill McKee offered him a job as coach with the Reds and he decided to try the new task.

Proclamation of a New Pontiff

Thousands mass in St. Peter's Square in front of the papal residence awaiting appearance of a new Pope on the balcony shown in upper part of picture. This scene will be repeated when a successor to Pope Pius XI is named.

Where the New Pope Is Named

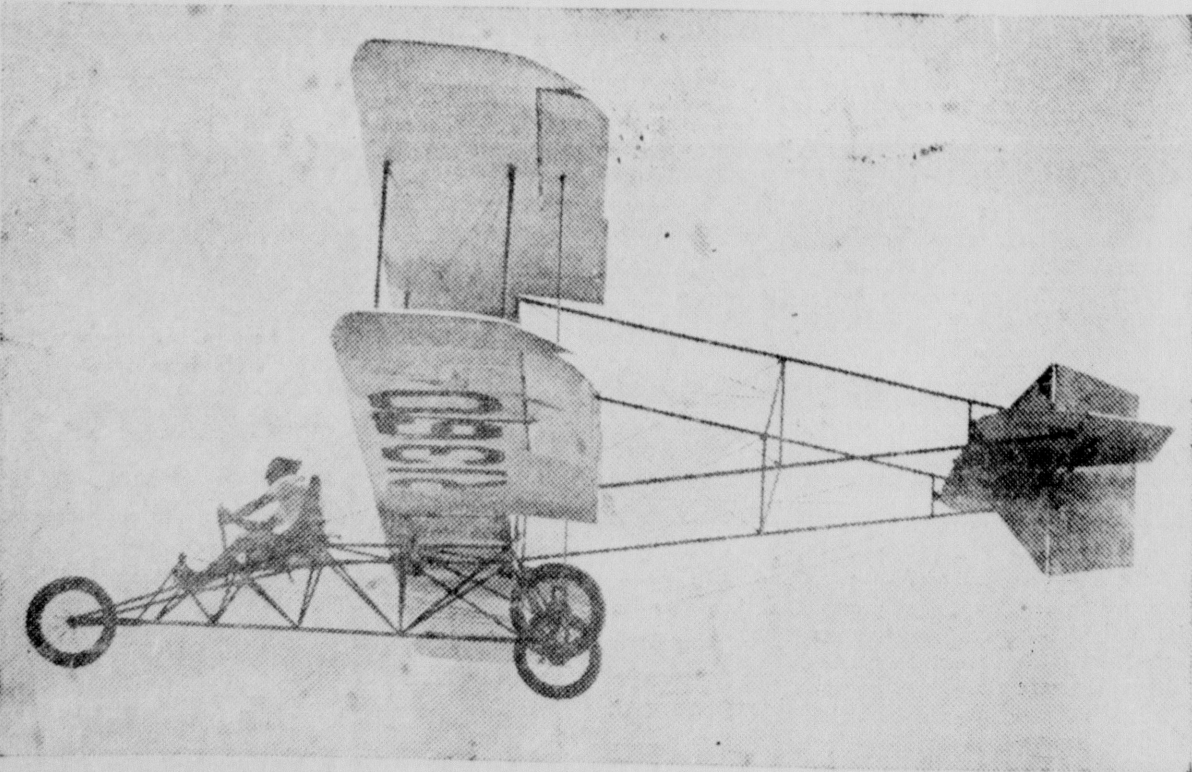

Balloting takes place in the Sistine Chapel, above, and is held twice a day—morning and evening. When one of the cardinals has received a two-thirds majority, has accepted the office, and selected his papal name, canopies are removed from all the cardinals' chairs except that of the pope-elect, as shown. The new pope is taken to another room and vested in the garb of his position. After receiving first homage from the other cardinals, he steps onto a balcony overlooking St. Peter's Square. Then the world knows his identity for the first time.

Guarding Entrance to Voting Chapel

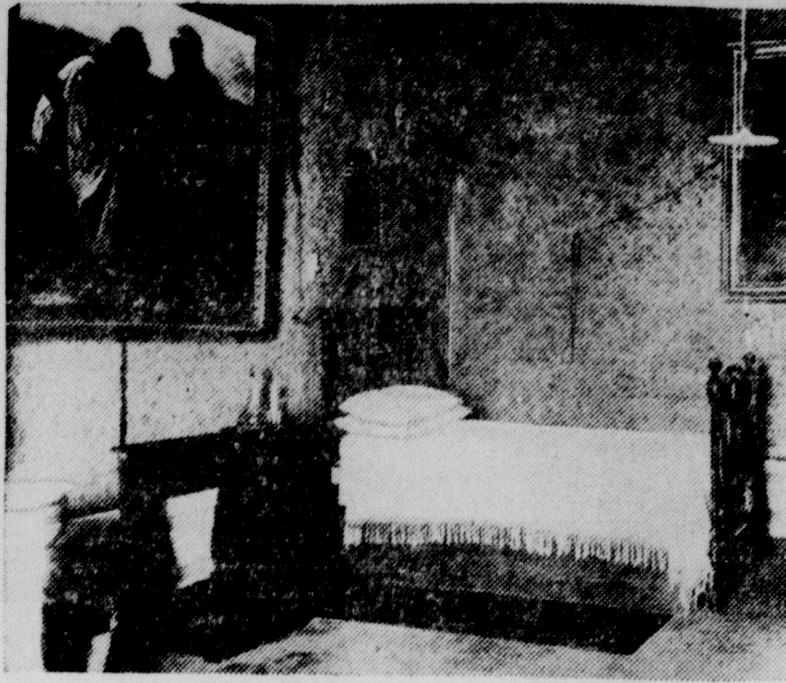

Attendants attached to the Marshal of Council guard the sealed door behind which the College of Cardinals meets in Vatican City to elect a new Pope. A full College is composed of 70 cardinals, but death has reduced present membership to about 65. The cardinals are placed under lock and key while in conclave, a practice dating back to a papal bull of Pope Gregory X in 1270. Each of the cardinals is allowed two secretaries, who serve as his agents in negotiations. The conclave begins in the evening of one of the days between the 15th and 18th day following the Pope's death.

Life in the Old Bird Yet

Cardinal's Voting Quarters

This cell-like room in the Vatican is occupied by a cardinal during the election. Each cell is numbered and numbers are drawn by lot. Windows are walled to prevent signalling to the outside. Meals are passed through a wicket.

Barricaded Papal Residence

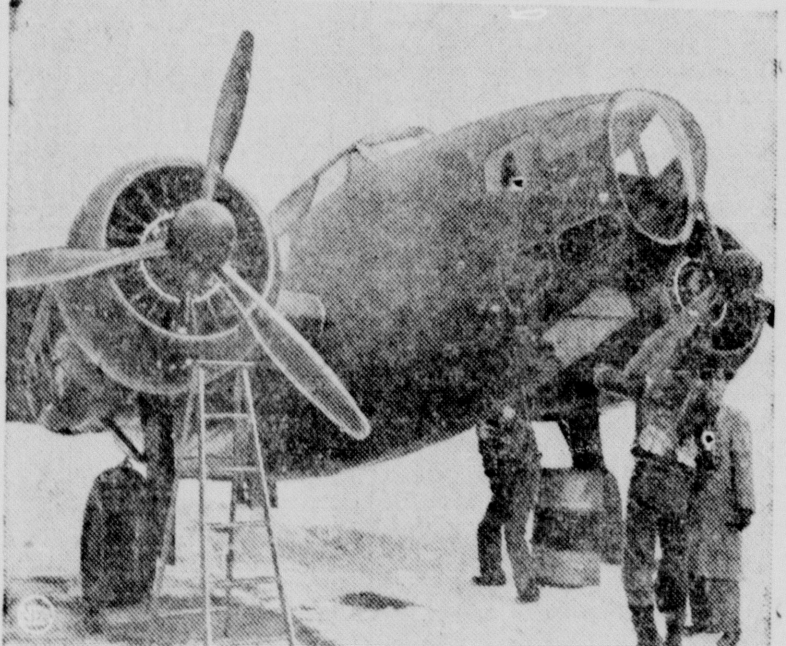

All entrances to the Pope's living quarters and apartments are boarded up and closely guarded until the election has been completed. This photo shows sentries before a heavily barricaded doorway in St. Damascus courtyard.

They Feed Electorate

In temporary kitchens, like that shown above, attendants prepare meals for the cardinals. Servants, physicians, confessors, other attendants are appointed by a special commission, sworn to secrecy, and locked within the Vatican.

As Congress pondered appropriations for an augmented air force, this Lockheed bomber arrived at Floyd Bennett Field, N. Y., after 12 hours' flying from Burbank, Cal. But it's for export to England—the first of 250 ordered by Great Britain.

The Official Ballot

Each cardinal writes his choice for Pope in the center of the above ballot form, on which is a Holy Scriptures text identifying the ballot as his. The ballots are deposited in a chalice on the altar. Three cardinals, called "scrutatores," do the counting.

SHAWNEETOWN'S MIGRATION NOT MOVING SWIFTLY

Bad Weather, Opposition, Lack of Action Noted
by City's Mayor

Shawneetown, Ill., Feb. 14.—(A. P.)—Inclement weather and the slowness with which home owners sign contracts to move their property to the site of new Shawneetown were depicted by Mayor Harry Fred Howell today as the causes for the delay in moving this city out of reach of Ohio river floods.

Howell, in an interview, said the construction of homes at the new site would begin as soon as weather permitted but that the moving of old homes would not begin until home owners signed contracts at the rate of seven per week.

The housing authority of Gallatin county, of which he is an official, set that rate, he explained, because it wanted assurance that the movers, once started, would be kept busy. He said contracts had been signed for building or moving between 30 and 35 homes.

The removal project was launched after the 1937 flood, which wrecked many of Shawneetown's homes and damaged its business.

The state legislature appropriated $150,000 to purchase the town lots and convert the state's oldest existing town into a state park.

WPA Aids Project
In addition, the Works Progress Administration has aided the removal by sponsoring projects for a sidewalk and gravel street system and a sewer system and sewage disposal plant for the 275 acres being developed at the 320-acre site of the new city. The "model" town is on route 13, three miles east of the old city.

About 200 WPA workers now are employed at the site. When development reaches its height the crew will have been increased to 800. Until actual home construction begins the workers are in WPA employment but when they begin working on private construction, they will be employed by the housing authority, Howell said.

The authority, he said, based its hopes for economical operation on mass production in the construction of new homes and improvements to those moved.

Howell illustrated the home moving system as follows:

Home Moving System
A homeowner wants to move. Dwelling to a new site from a lot in old Shawneetown, valued by the tax assessor at $300. If his new lot costs $200, the moving $150, and improvements to the house after moving total $500, his gross cost would be $850. He receives $300 credit for his old lot and the remaining $550 is payable to the Gallatin housing authority over a 20-year period at four per cent interest.

The housing authority moves his home and makes the improvements with money borrowed from the Disaster Loan Corporation. When the monthly payments are made to the housing authority, they are turned over to the D.L.C. Howell said in some instances the resident preferred to build a new home, and in such cases he received credit for the assessed valuation of his original lot and the salvage value of the razed home.

Extended City Limits
Last October citizens voted 715 to 225 to extend the city limits to include the new site. Consequently, the present town now is connected to the new site by a three mile long strip of "city limits," 20 feet wide.

He said most of Shawneetown's business-owners were renters and would locate wherever the land was. On the other hand he said "owners of business houses are reluctant to act until the people begin moving. They have a greater investment and the moving is a more serious problem."

Bond issues totaling approximately $60,000 were enumerated by the mayor as essential to the complete moving. They would be for a new court house, a new grade school for white children, the moving of a grade school for Negro children, and for the construction of a waterworks extension from the present system which was completed just before the flood.

Howell said three churches could be moved to the new site or be replaced by new structures there, but that the Catholic church, a brick building completed only a few years ago and considered one of Shawneetown's most beautiful buildings, could not be moved.

Opponents Won't Move
An organization opposed to moving Shawneetown is headed by Al Lowe, a salesman and third of a generation to occupy one of Shawneetown's best homes. He said members of his organization were determined to remain at the site.

In an interview at Harrisburg, Lowe said the river was Shawneetown's biggest asset—even though a detriment at times—and to move away from it would be casting out its best natural resource.

Lowe said Cairo and other river towns overcame flood threats by building bigger and stronger levees.

'De-inked' News- Print Paper Passed Initial Test

Pittsburgh, Feb. 14.—(A. P.)—Newsprint created from "de-inked" waste paper has passed its most severe test and the inventor predicted today the process which he believes may revolutionize the industry would be producing the paper commercially in a matter of months.

Newsprint is the paper on which your daily newspaper is printed. It now comes largely from Canadian wood pulp.

Last night the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette tested the new paper. Dr. W. F. Hochstetter, Pittsburgh inventor, smiled as he watched the high-speed presses run off 8,000 copies each containing four pages made from his processed newsprint.

Even skeptical pressmen praised the new paper's resistance as it rolled through the presses at the rate of 40,000 an hour. Editors thought the pages printed on the waste paper newsprint seemed easier to read because, they said, the paper was whiter.

Demonstrating that the new newsprint could not be torn easily, Mechanical Superintendent F. H. Winch of the Post-Gazette exclaimed:

"It's in the bag. This paper is better than anything we've ever had. It would have stood up just as well at the rate of 60,000 an hour."

Hochstetter, who claims his process will reduce the price of newsprint from the present scale of $50 to $55 a ton for wood pulp to $30 to $35, said it would be "several months, at least, before commercial production could be started."

LINCOLN HI-WAY MEETING THURS- DAY IN CLINTON

Business Interests of Cities on Route Demands Action

Clinton, Ia., Feb. 14.—Officers of the Clinton Chamber of Commerce and the Lincoln Highway association of Iowa today were making final plans for the three-state meeting of the highway enthusiasts, scheduled for the Lafayette hotel here Thursday. The meeting will get started with a dinner at 12:30 p. m. in the main dining room of the hotel.

Officials today emphasized the fact that all persons living in communities bordering the highway are welcome to appear and take part in the formulation of plans for popularizing the highway. The states of Illinois, Nebraska and Iowa are expected to turn out at least 200 boosters to the meeting which is expected to be the primary boost toward bringing the transcontinental slab back into its own.

Many Delegates
Already Blair and Fremont in Nebraska have announced they will send delegates to the meeting as have towns such as Geneva, DeKalb, Rochelle, Dixon, Sterling and Fulton in Illinois and Missouri Valley, Logan, Dunlap, Vail, West Side, Carroll, Scranton, DeWitt, Jefferson and Grand Mound in Iowa.

All business men along the route are urged to attend and their suggestions will be heard. F. R. Kleeberger, a director of the Iowa group, said today.

Guy C. Richardson, president of the Iowa association, will preside over the meeting, assisted by D. A. VanCleave, Missouri Valley, secretary.

Need Build-Up
Kleeberger pointed out that all types of business will eventually be affected by the influx of travel expected on the road as a result of publicity which will be given it. He pointed out that in the past other roads have taken vast number of cars which otherwise would have traveled the Lincoln Highway. Plans for publicity and better marking of the road at vital intersections will be made before the meeting is closed.

The director also pointed out the timeliness of the publicity activity when he said that as a result of the two world's fairs taking place on the east and west coasts, added numbers of tourists would be taking to the highways during the summers. This fact, he said, makes it more necessary than ever that action be taken immediately. Otherwise there will be no noticeable increase in travel on the highway.

Blister Rust Threatens All Trees At Pines

During the past four years white pine blister rust, a serious disease of white pines, has invaded the northern Illinois counties at an increasingly rapid rate. In 1935 one location of cultivated black currants was found infected with blister rust in Jo Daviess county. Since then the rust has been found in an additional number of counties each year. During 1938, 34 locations of cultivated black currants were found infected in 10 northern counties. To date no white pines have been found infected with this disease.

Blister rust, being similar to black stem rust of wheat, requires two different hosts to complete its life cycle. In the case of wheat rust the hosts are the small grains and the common barberry plant while the blister rust fungus requires either currants or gooseberry plants and the white or five needled pines. Due to the fact that blister rust requires an alternate host, this disease is comparatively easy to control. It cannot spread from one pine tree to another and therefore by removing all cultivated and wild currants and gooseberry plants from within and for a distance of 900 feet around the pine stand, that stand will be protected from injury.

Control of white pine blister rust in Illinois is conducted cooperatively by the State Department of Agriculture, Division of Plant Industry and the United States Department of Agriculture, Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine. White Pine owners who are interested in protecting their trees are requested to write Ernest D. Bergeson, 300 State Bank Building, Glen Ellyn, for free advice and assistance.

Rev. Barnett Is Awarded Scout Chaplain Badge

Rev. James A. Barnett, pastor of the Christian church, Sunday evening was awarded the Scout Chaplain award for service to Scouting by the Boy Scouts of Troop 89 at their annual Scout Sunday service in celebration of the 29th anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America.

Well over 125 persons including members of his congregation, parents, and friends of scouting witnessed the presentation by Scout leader K. D. Abbott. Preceding the Honor Award to the pastor, the present Scoutmaster of Troop 89 related various historical events of the local troop, and then calling on L. W. Emmert, former Scoutmaster, gave Mr. Emmert the Scout handclasp of Scouting fellowship, on this, the 29th anniversary of Scouting.

It was through Mr. Emmert's leadership that Troop 89 was organized in 1929. Two new Scouts, Fred Freindt and Roy Babson received their Tenderfoot badges at this special meeting.

Eagle Scout Earl Slagle of Troop 89 gave an interesting version on "What it means to be an Eagle Scout" and urged all the younger Scouts to work faithfully so that they could achieve this high Scouting honor.

A true tale of Scout preparedness was told by the Scoutmaster as he briefly told of the service rendered recently by Explorer Scout Robert Sanborn when he happened on an auto accident scene in a nearby city. Scout Sanborn received a very nice letter a few days ago from the doctor in charge of the case, stating that through his quick action in administering first aid the patient survived. Another example that a Scout is prepared at all times to render aid in emergency. Scout Sanborn is a member of the Troop 89 First Aid team.

The pastor of the church in his sermon spoke of Scouting ideals, of the Scout oath and law as referred to the various passages from the Bible. He touched on the new era of speeds and new inventions showing man's remarkable adaptability to discover new things.

Before the close of the service, Scoutmaster Abbott announced to the congregation the winning of the "Ten Year Program Award" by troop 89 for the third consecutive year. The new Explorer Patrol was presented to the visitors and some of their achievements named.

REP. KELLER TO SPEAK
Washington.—(A. P.)—Representative Kent E. Keller (D-Ill.) said last night he would address an audience of "Maryland Democrats" in Baltimore Wednesday on the subject of the Dies committee. Keller was among those who opposed unsuccessfully continuation of the committee, headed by Rep. Dies (D-Tex.) which is investigating un-American activities. Keller said that in this address he would endeavor "to show how the Dies committee might improve itself, by getting facts."

IS FAMILY HOBBY
Salina, Kans.—(A. P.)—Having the first babies of the new year is getting to be a habit in the Scheidt family.

Dale Bernard Scheidt was born at 12:04 A. M. Jan. 1 this year; his sister, Nancy, was Salina's "first baby" title in 1937 at Wichita.

The skunk's oil he sells for $1.20 a pint and sometimes he gets a quart from one animal. What he doesn't sell he uses at home to treat the crop.

ELKS BACK MOVE FOR UNIFORMITY OF TRAFFIC LAW

Dixon Lodge Urges Such Action; Social Program Announced

At the regular meeting of Dixon lodge of Elks last evening, a resolution was voted recommending the adoption of uniform traffic signs and regulations throughout every state in the nation. The Elks is one of several national organizations acting to bring about uniform traffic regulation in all states and copies of the resolution adopted last evening were forwarded to Senator George C. Dixon and Representatives Dennis Collins, George S. Brydia and Henry White of the 35th district. With the state assemblies of 44 states now in session, a nationwide effort is being made to bring about the uniform regulations.

Esteemed Loyal Knight Merton M. Memier, in observation of Lincoln's birthday, recited Lincoln's Gettysburg address. Past Exalted Rulers who occupied the stations at the lodge meeting, conducted the initiation of a class of candidates, which was followed by a social session.

MISSION OF GOP THREE-FOLD, EX- PRESIDENT SAYS

Republicans Throughout
Country Celebrated
Lincoln's Birthday

New York, Feb. 14.—(AP)—In a speech recalling his own efforts to meet "the storm of 1929," Herbert Hoover last night summoned the Republican party to a three-fold mission, including preservation of "peace for America," in which he said lay its "greatest opportunity since Abraham Lincoln."

Keynoting the 53rd annual Lincoln Day dinner of the National Republican club—at which other Republican leaders from as far west as Colorado spoke—the only living ex-president made his most vigorous attack since 1936 upon the Roosevelt administration.

The "great resolves" of the Republican party other than peace, he said, must be "economic restoration" and "preservation of freedom" which "are being undermined by the policies now pursued at home and by alien theories from abroad."

Dewey Did Not Speak

Hoover appeared on the platform with a long list of party dignitaries. The second seat of honor was occupied by District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey of New York, the unsuccessful gubernatorial candidate of last year. He was introduced but did not speak.

The Hoover address was delivered amid general predictions of others who shared the platform with him that the Republicans would win the presidency in 1940; and stretched behind him was a great banner reading: "1940 victory, through unity."

Hoover devoted much of his address to developing the assertion that the Republican party was the party of "true liberalism." From this he went on to say that it was his own Republican administration which, in 1930, was "the first to announce the national obligation that no American through no fault of his own should go hungry or cold, and first to organize nation-wide relief for the unemployed."

"Politics With Misery"

"And," he said amid shouts from the ballroom where he spoke before a crowd officially estimated at some 2,000, "it organized relief in a fashion which excluded corruption, waste and demoralization of community responsibility. And it is high time to return to a system that does not play politics with human misery."

Other major speakers included Gov. Julius P. Heil of Wisconsin. "The people of Wisconsin," said Heil, "and the people of this country are tired of family dynasties in government."

"There is no place nor need in America," he added, "today or ever, for one man government. What we need is more representative government; better representative government."

BRANSON AT FLORA

Flora, Ill., Feb. 14.—(AP)—Majority Leader R. J. Branson of Centralia paid tribute to Abraham Lincoln in an address here last night, declaring the Civil War president's principles of patriotism and adherence to the constitution never have been so badly needed as now.

The Illinois Republican house leader eulogized Lincoln as the founder of the G. O. P. and predicted a return of the Republican party to power in 1940.

Turning to state affairs briefly, Branson said Illinois administration expenditures are "far too large." He declared the state's budget must be reduced.
